

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT AND RESEARCHER'S GUIDE

UNIVERSITY OF SÃO PAULO

University of São Paulo is one of the largest and most important institutions of higher education and research in Brazil and Latin America. Founded in 1934, USP is a public state institution (it does not charge tuition fees) and has campi placed in eight cities spread throughout the state of São Paulo. With education and research activities in all academic fields, USP offers 183 undergraduate programs, 269 graduate programs (both Master's and Doctoral (PhD) degrees) and 984 extracurricular programs. In total, there are about 90 thousand students enrolled in 48 Schools (faculties and institutes) which make up USP. Furthermore, the university houses important museums which receive over 1million visitors per year. In addition, USP runs health centers and two major hospitals. It also works in partnership with Hospital das Clínicas of Ribeirão Preto and Hospital das Clínicas of São Paulo, the later considered one of the leading hospitals in Latin America.

Over 87% of the more than 5,600 professors are full time employees. This reinforces the university's commitment to achieving excellence in terms of its personnel and of generation of knowledge.

USP's scientific productivity totals an average of over 25 thousand publications per year, including indexed scientific journals, books, reports etc. This represents a significant proportion of the country's output.

The university is also concerned with the application of discoveries made by its research centers and laboratories, as well as with the effective transfer of these findings to society in general. For this reason many members of the USP community are in permanent partnership with industries, companies, offices and health centers specialized in the development of projects and products and in the practical application of new technologies and products.

The university also plays an important role in South America, since it attracts many students, professors and technicians from the neighboring countries and from all parts of the world. USP is an institution that evolves rapidly in its intent towards greater internationalization, which has been accompanied by its ever growing visibility on the world stage. It has signed over a thousand cooperation and exchange agreements with important institutions in the Americas, Africa, Europe, Asia and Oceania, and is constantly working towards increasing this number. The university currently welcomes about 1,500 undergraduate and graduate foreign students per year and sends abroad an even bigger number as part of its student mobility program.

RIBEIRÃO PRETO

Ribeirão Preto has its origins in the livestock industry, but it was soon overtaken by coffee production as its main economic activity. The town has received so many immigrants (mostly Italians) that, in the beginning of the 20th century, more than half of its inhabitants were not native Portuguese speakers. Nowadays, with over 682,000 people*, Ribeirão Preto is considered an attractive option for business enterprises, besides being an economic highlight in its region. The diversified cultural life, the rich historic heritage and the talent for business are remarkable characteristics of the city. Definitely, Ribeirão Preto is a big town with aspects of a small town.

SÃO CARLOS

Like many other cities of the region, at first São Carlos was largely dedicated to the production of coffee. Subsequently, the changing economy forced modernization and with it came the need to invest in new infrastructure. This, allied to the abundant immigrant workforce (mostly Italians), led to the industrialization of the city. With over 246,000 people*, São Carlos, which has become known for pioneering innovation and an enterprising spirit, came to possess a well-developed urban infrastructure before many other Brazilian cities. Thus it has turned into one of the most representative economies of its region and also a Brazilian landmark in terms of technology and education, having 3 universities (USP, UFSCar and UNICEP).

SANTOS

Located on the coast of São Paulo and 72 kilometers from the capital, the city, with a population of 434.742 inhabitants*, holds the 5th place in the ranking of quality of life of Brazilian municipalities, according to the Human Development Index (HDI). The activities related to the harbor, the largest in Latin America, is the main source of wealth of the municipality, making Santos the most important city of the Metropolitan Region of Baixada Santista and one of the richest of the country. The Tourism, Services and Fishing sectors are the main part of the Santos economy, but the exploration of an extensive pre-salt layer of oil and gas in the Santos Basin, a discovery announced in 2006 by Petrobras, already causes positive impacts and should be one of the engines in the current decade.

Exchange students are allowed to attend courses at USP for one or two semesters, which can be further extended up to two more semesters if authorized by both the foreign institution and USP. Students can obtain credits or conduct research valid to their home institution. The Home University must register the students here: <http://bit.ly/13mxMii>

Once the application has been submitted by the home university, the student receives an e-mail containing a link to complete his/her application.

Important!

The DEADLINES for submissions are:
 For the first semester (February to June): until OCTOBER 15TH.
 For the second semester (August to December): until MAY 5TH.

Documents to be attached on the online application:

- A reference letter, written by a professor from the home institution;
- A copy of the student's transcript issued by the home institution accompanied by a simple translation into Portuguese;
- A Study Plan, including a list of disciplines the candidate intends to take at USP (you can find the list of disciplines at <http://bit.ly/16YnWLK>). Select the School, the course and then the disciplines);
- Copy of the pages of the applicant's passport which include personal data (including the expiration date);
- Digital photography for the document, in ".jpg" format and maximum size of 50Kb
- Any questions concerning Exchange Students' mobility must be sent to mobility.area1@usp.br, mobility.area2@usp.br, mobility.area3@usp.br or mobility.area4@usp.br

The geographic areas covered by each email can be found here <http://bit.ly/1NXRNbh>

Selected students must subsequently present the following documents for registration at the International Office and for enrollment:

- Passport with a Temporary Student Visa (Type IV);
- A copy of the International Health Insurance/ Travel Insurance.

PROGRAMS OFFERED TO GRADUATE STUDENTS

Admission as a regular student

1 A foreign student interested in undertaking graduate studies at USP must get in touch directly with the Graduate Section of the School where they wish to study.

For information on existing Graduate Programs, please go to:
<<http://www.prpg.usp.br/index.php/en/>>

2 Program for Partner Graduate Students (PEC-PG)

PEC-PG is a cooperation program with countries from Africa, Asia, Oceania, Latin America, the Middle East and the Caribbean. Foreign students interested in applying to a graduate program via PEC-PG must get in touch directly with the School where they wish to study, in order to be informed of the necessary documents and procedures for that specific School.

Applicants must send the following basic documents:

- A copy of the student's transcript, diploma and Birth Certificate, all duly recognized by the Brazilian Embassy
- Certificate of Proficiency in Portuguese Language for Foreigners (CELPE-Bras)
- A copy of the curriculum in Portuguese
- Two reference letters and a Research Project or Study Plan (according to the models found in the PEG-PG Manual)
- Acceptance letter issued by USP on one of its Graduate Degree Programs (Masters or PhD)

For more information, please go to: <<http://www.dce.mre.gov.br/>>

Admission as an exchange student

Foreign students interested in doing part of their graduate studies at USP under the exchange program must get in touch directly with the Graduate Section of the School where they wish to study. For information on existing Graduate Programs, please go to the website:

<http://www.prpg.usp.br/?page_id=19>

Selection Process

The International Office only conducts a prior analysis of the received documents in order to accept (or not) the candidate's application. Further analysis of the information provided by the applicant and his/her possible acceptance are undertaken by the School where he/she intends to study and will take up to approximately 60 days after the subscription deadline.

Health Insurance

During his/her stay in Brazil, the foreigner will be allowed to use the services of the Brazilian Public Health System only in case of emergency. For this reason, Universidade de São Paulo demands that students obtain health insurance (travel insurance), which should be purchased in their home country prior to their arrival in Brazil. The insurance policy must be valid for the entire period of intended stay in the country. The choice of one specific travel insurance or another is the student's responsibility.

Important!

It is not possible for a foreign student to enroll at USP holding a tourist visa, nor is it possible to change the type of visa once already in Brazil or a neighboring country. Under such circumstances, should the need arise to change the type of visa, it will be necessary for the student to return to his/her home country.

After arrival

Once in Brazil, the foreign student must present himself/herself to the USP International Local Office in order to be introduced to the university and receive instructions regarding the necessary procedures.

The International Local Office staff will provide information about:

- USP ID card;
- Portuguese course enrollment;
- Signing up for classes;
- Student Single Transportation Card (“Bilhete Único Estudantil”) , through the USP Superintendence for Social Assistance (SAS);
- Homestay Program
